"Stand Your Ground . . . f They Mean to Have a War, Let It Begin Here."

Capt. John Parker

Capt. John Parker uttered those words as the colonial militia under s command prepared to meet the British troops at Lexington. Those orks and the painting—Spirit of '76—exemplify the dedication and termination of the American patriots in their fight for independence. ne colonies had organized to express their grievances in an effort to solve the differences within the framework of the Empire. Several of e colonial legislatures had instructed their delegates to the Con- nental Congress in Philadelphia to oppose any move toward in- pendence. The movement for independence was gaining strength d following the publication of Thomas Paine's Common Sense, hich argued for colonial sovereignty, a resolution was adopted and a mmittee of five appointed to draft a declaration of independence. General Washington, who had been appointed commander-in-chief American forces by the Second Continental Congress, was a brilliant litary strategist. It was his decision to take his Continentals across e Delaware River on Christmas night which resulted in the first ma- colonial victory. That victory at Trenton over Hessian mercenaries ve the ragged army renewed vigor. Supported chiefly through the inting of Continental currency, the colonial army also went through e personal fortunes of many American patriots—among them ashington, Jefferson, Richard Henry Lee and John Adams. These rtunes were donated to the cause of liberty—a cause supported by out one-third of the American population which was near 2,000,000. nother one-third remained loyal to the English crown and the mainder were apathetic. Despite many defeats, the colonies anaged to keep an army in the field as a symbol of American sistance, to guarantee a negotiated rather than dictated peace.

3/ Following the victory at Yorktown, Washington refused the offer his troops to become king and returned to Philadelphia to aid with t establishment of a permanent government for the new republic- loose alliance of sovereign states held together by the Articles Confederation. An envoy composed of Benjamin Franklin, Jo Adams and John Jay was sent to negotiate with the British. It was n until 1783 that the peace agreement, known as the Treaty of Paris, w signed, guaranteeing the sovereignty of the United States of Ameri The Articles of Confederation, despite many weaknesses, served to u ify the states until 1787 when a special convention was held Independence Hall in Philadelphia to revise them. The meeting w attended by fifty-five of the most-prominent men of the day. Twen nine of the delegates representing a majority of the states met on M 25 and decided to draft an entirely new constitution rather than a mend the Articles of Confederation. The meeting then became kno as the Constitutional Convention.

4/ The men who assembled for the Constitutional Convention were illustrious group with nearly every delegate a person of prominence his home state. A large majority favored a strong central governme After four months of debate, on September 17, 1787, the new consti tion was completed. In a little more than four months, six states h ratified the new constitution. Despite the good beginning, the fight ratification was bitter and it was not until September 13, 1788, th the necessary two-thirds majority of the states had approved the do ment and Congress could call for states to choose their electors a congressmen. Several of the states had ratified the constitution w the provision that it would be amended. Thus, as one of its first offic acts under the new constitution, the Congress added the first t amendments known as the Bill of Rights. Washington was u animously elected President and a new nation was launched on course of democracy.

Administration

As the most important system within our school, our administration also handles the most important problems. Coping with the complaints of an entire school may not sound very pleasing, but these people seem very content with their positions. As trying as it may seem at times, there are numerous rewards. Why, just imagine how the Administrators must feel when they look at the student body ...

Language Arts

The Language Arts department of our school is one of the most active curricular areas. Required courses are made much more interesting by the nine week, or mini-course selections, which seem to place English on a more personal basis. Also, our foreign language studies give students a chance to learn more about the world and themselves, right in the classroom.

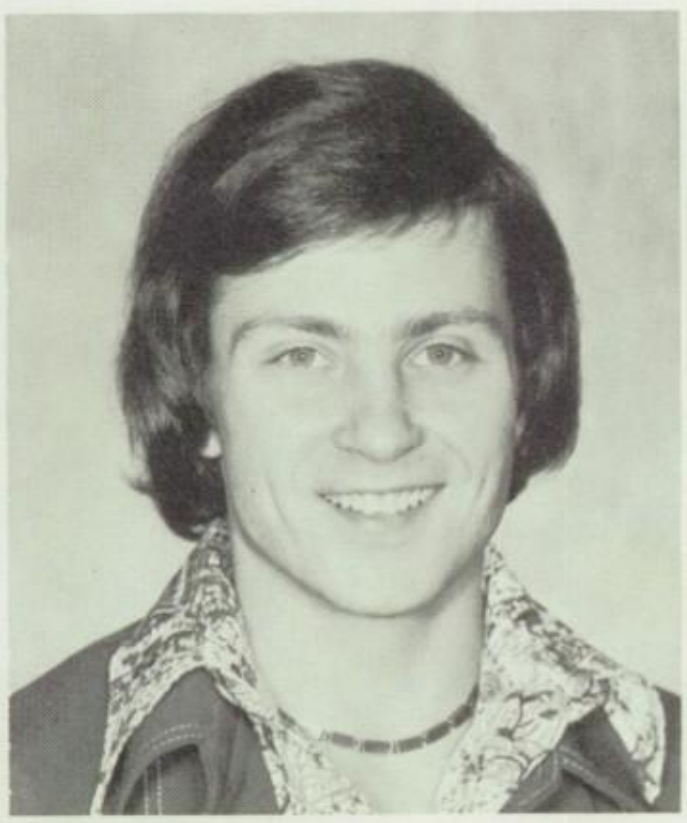
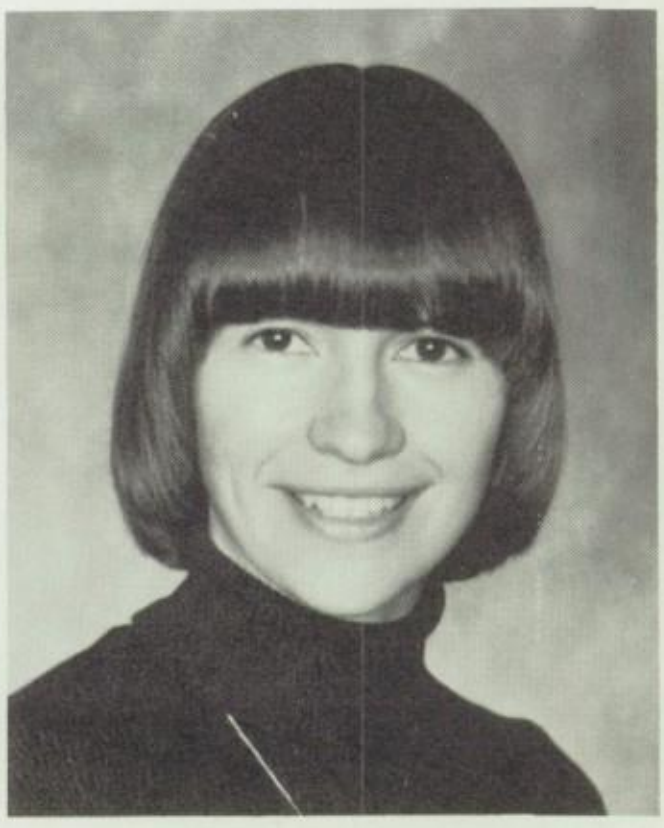
Guidance

Guidance is one of the busiest departments in our school. These three people must cope with the problems of approximately fifteen hundred students, which is quite a job for anyone. But, in spite of it all, they seem to enjoy their work, which in turn makes it easier for students to enjoy theirs.



William Carlson

Walter Johnston



Ruth Schroeder

Science

The move to the new high school was a hectic one, especially for the Science department. A lot of equipment was misplaced or lost, but the addition of the planetarium to this department more than made up for it. Students have discovered that this course of study has a lot to offer everyone, whether he is completing a required credit or preparing for college.

Comprehensive Studies

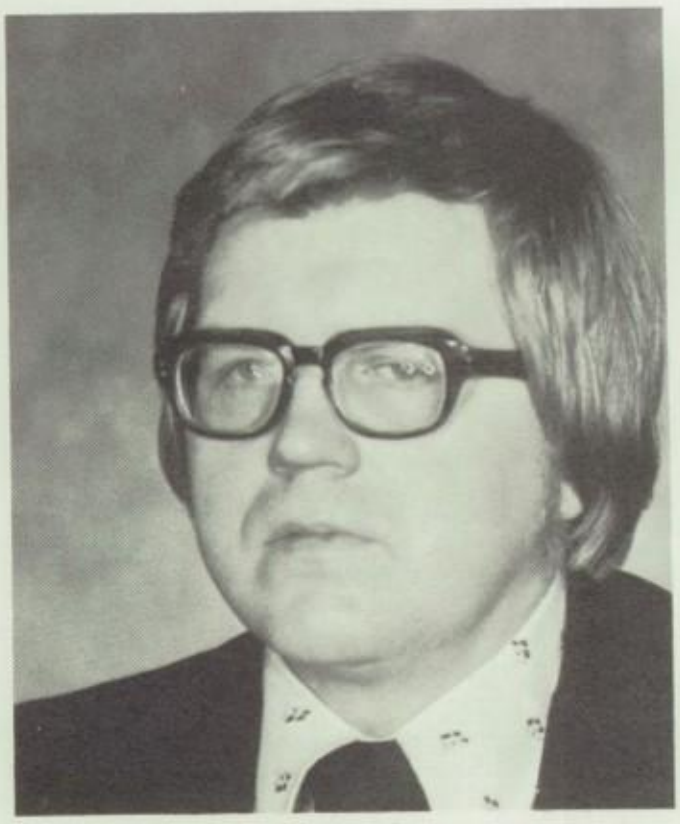
The Comprehensive Studies department prepares students to make it on their own. Although not as popular as it once was, this department is no less important.

Donna Tubbs

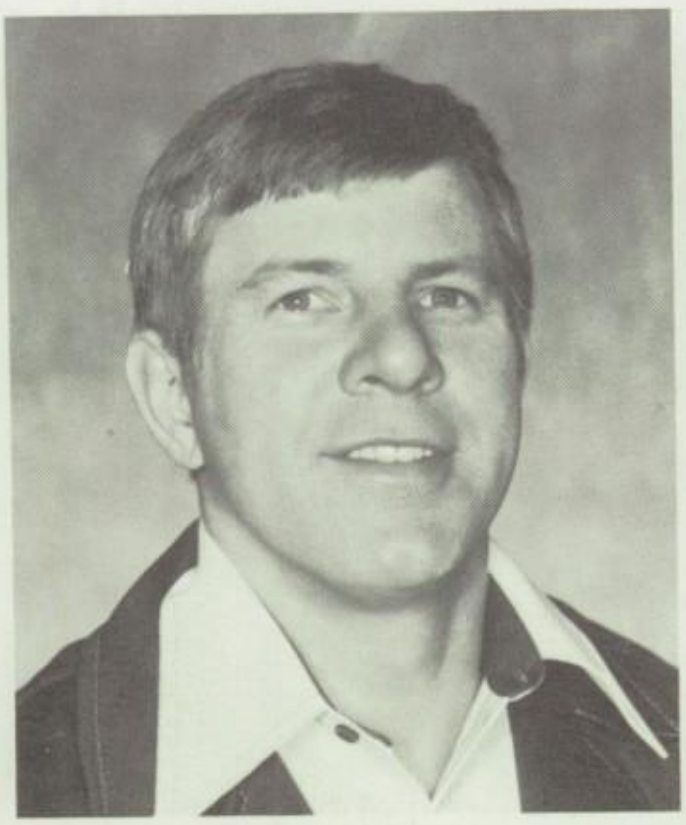
Boyd Vokes

Learning Disability

This department is small, but what it does for its students is very important. Perhaps because it is small it functions as it does: a group of students very close to one another.



Joseph Chuba



Joseph Mahkovec

Tom Truman

Cultures

Our Cultures Department is one of the less formal areas of our school. While keeping with traditional procedure, this course offers the student an opportunity to express himself in terms of past and present events. Everyone is encouraged to voice his opinion, which perhaps explains the popularity of this course of study in our school.

Math

There are opportunities created in the math field almost daily, and the Math Department of our school is constantly preparing the individual student for his chance. Math mini-courses are becoming a fundamental part of high school education, as well as an added plus to those interested in "making it" after graduation.

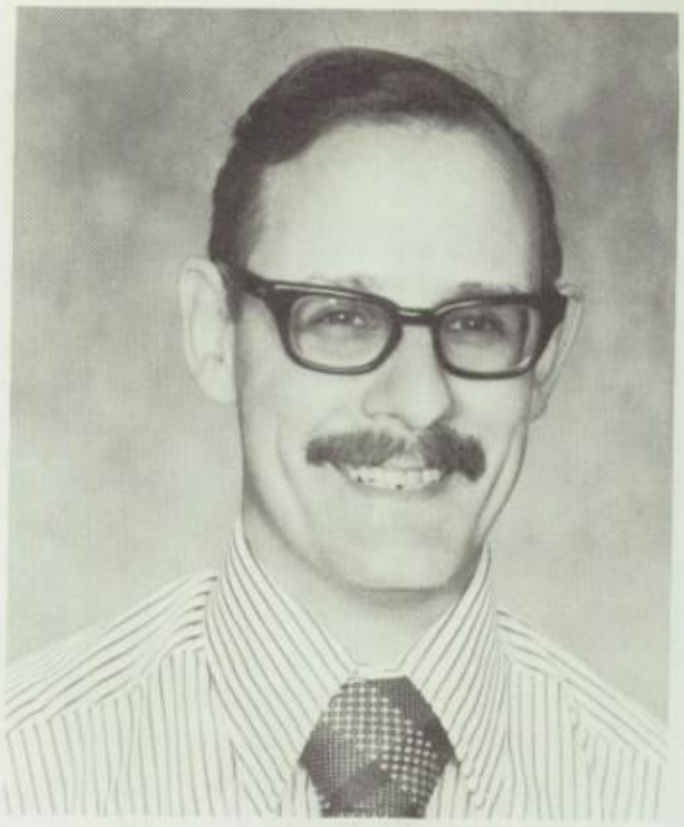
Fine Arts

This year the Fine Arts department had to "go on its own" quite a bit. Equipment that had been ordered earlier never arrived, and some projects had to be postponed until next year. But, as the Arts and Crafts of this year show, there was no lack of talent.



Gary Mullen

Gail Kelly

Sally Turley

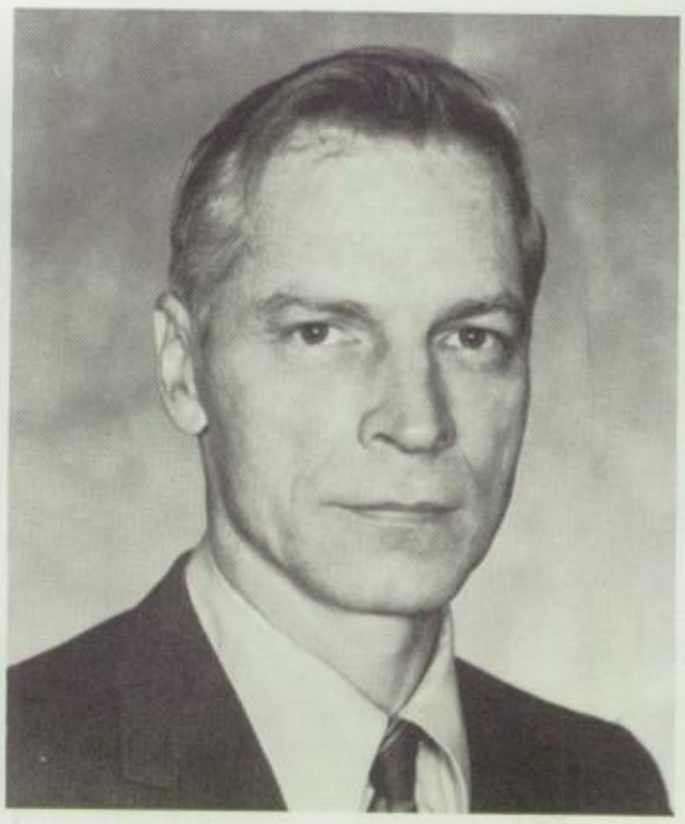
Home Economics

The Home Economics department has experienced quite an increase in interest during the past few years. Students enjoy themselves and gain a great amount of practical experience. This is no easy course though, and sometimes the candy and cake help to "sweeten" the grades.

Industrial Arts

One of the biggest things to happen to the Industrial Arts department in the past few years was the addition of girls to the program. Students elect this course with a purpose in mind; to become a little more versatile and useful, or maybe just to relax and enjoy themselves. Whatever the reason, this department seems to make it all worthwhile.

Joseph Bennese



Henry Zwiener

Business

The Business department is probably one of the more practical areas of study in our school. Business students constantly prepare for graduation, because it marks a starting point in their life; they can begin putting all their learning to work for them.

Vocational Agriculture

This department is probably the fastest-growing and most popular of all those offered in the school. As a result, the Vo Ag department holds the unofficial prize for student interest. As you can see, the "back-to-nature" movement is just as strong in Clearfield as it is anywhere else.

Health And Physical Education

or the Health and Physical ducation programs, the move o the new high school was a uitful one. Although the track nd field areas were not yet ompleted, the new pool pro-ided a lot of activity for veryone. By the end of the year, he staff had almost grown ac-ustomed to "the Echo Cham-er" and low water pressure; ow if they could only get some ectrical outlets in the projec-on room ...

ADVICE TO STUDENTS

Students should never study when they are tired—
Or have anything else to do,
They should never study when they are happy—
For that would make them blue.
They should never study in the daytime—
Nor should they study at night;
But they should study all other times
With all their main and might!

Senior Class Officers

As usual, the class officers were not elected until half of the school year was over. They worked hard to make the Senior Trip to New York possible. In addition, they helped organize the Prom and Senior Breakfast. Not only were we grateful for their fine leadership during the school year, we were just lucky if they showed up for school half of the time!

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1976, being of sound mind, do solemnly bequeath our most treasured possessions to the students and faculty of C.H.S.:

Lou Ann Karchner leaves Doug Gallaher with an evacuated car and having to crawl through the bathroom window.

Charla MacDonald leaves her seat in the office to Jeff Shimmel — make use of it, Jeff!

Joanne Houser leaves the office an open line to her house.

The Senior Class leaves with Denny Croyle — you can rest now, Mrs. Kelly!

The seniors on Bus 13 leave Kathy Maines the "Assistant Bus Driver" award.

We leave the Stiner girls a cast iron restroom to try to destroy next year.

The senior boys leave in a state of shock and amazement to think that some senior girls gave them a second look during the year. Amazing!

Lynette Anderson and Rich Valenza warn and caution anyone who may, in the future, get the foolish idea to do something for the student body to forget it — it's not worth the hassle.

Tony Fleck leaves the 4th period gym classes his soccer field Kamakazi techniques and his brother to practice on.

Mike Taylor leaves C.H.S. wondering what happened to all his fantastic parties.

The senior girls take Alan Lanager with them . . . eat your hearts out, freshmen!

The seniors leave wondering how the junior boys matured faster than the junior girls.
Dorothy Haversack leaves Eleanor Porter a book of 101 ways to tell the truth.

The senior guys wish they could leave the senior girls behind!

The senior class leaves wondering who the idiot was that lost the $160 that day.

The senior class also leaves wondering who the idiot was that returned the $160.

Mike Abersold and Rodney Wallace leave the halls and the detention room quiet for awhile.

Dick Winebold and Debbie Young leave their cafeteria table to Ed Bell and Joan Pyle with hopes that everyone will be able to see "daylight between them."

The senior class leaves Mr. Barnes wondering what is so exciting about a trip.

Carol, Mary Kay, Teresa, and Deb leave Mr. Morris watching the "Young and the Restless."

To the junior class: Be careful or they'll take away your restroom facilities.

The senior boys would like to leave all their charm and maturity to the underclassmen, but it ran out 9 months ago.

Jess and Susie leave Ron Matthew wondering what a real sweat hog is.

We leave Mr. Barnes a new P.A. system for the one he wore out this year.

Kris Hallstrom leaves chasing Gary Lingle.

The senior class leaves Debbie Marsh a case of peel-off-stick-on smiles, and a chance at being a senior, finally.

We leave the secretaries in the office, 3 office workers instead of 1, so they can get all of their work done.

Our Senior year, with all its problems and laughs, is nearly completed; therefore, we, the Senior Class of 1976 affix our seal to this last will and testament and depart with this wish: May the challenges of a Senior year bring greatest happiness and warmest memories to next year's Senior class as it has ours.

Hey, turn out the lights!

Guess who?

J.V.: I. to r., L. Pennington, C. Chambers, D. Bordas, S. Gardner

Who killed my megaphone?

You should have seen me the last time. I flew a little further.

Cheerleading was ... practices in the summer without an advisor ... a carwash and a bake sale ... summer camp ... five superior ribbons and a spirit stick ... "There's a man in the room!" ... Margaret on the warpath ooh-ah silent evaluation ... 2 pep assemblies ... DYNOMITE!!! ... Cheering at the Tyrone football game ... how wet it was ... Cheering for a Cross Country meet???? ... Terrific seniors ... Mrs. Hubler and Mrs. Proud, our new advisors ... lots of FUN!!!

Gymnastics was ... an 8 and 4 season ... the bus trip to Altoona ... the over, over night stay at Montoursville ... 3 in a bed at Lock Haven ... Greatest victory was beating Montoursville 69.50 to 66.13 ... Vick's bar routine ... Debbie taking 15 minutes just to do one handspring vault ... 6 to districts and 3 to regionals ... wrapping shin splints ... eating oranges ... Miss Yeager's neat saying, ca-ca ... her directions to and from Montoursville ... our longlectures ... her cute little songs ... and her leaving us.

We've got to quit meeting like this!

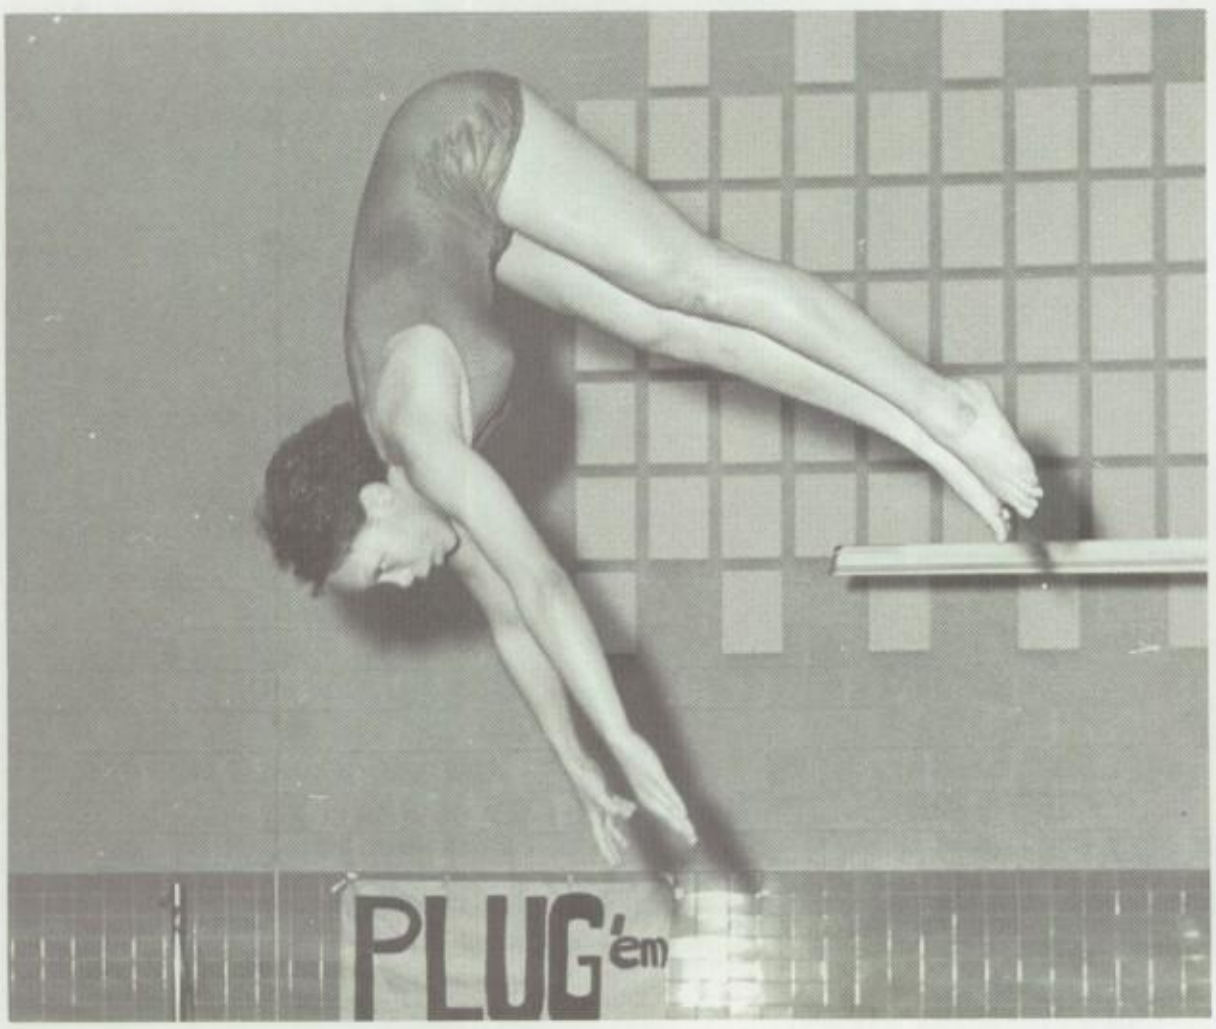
Caught you messing around again, Smith!



Now if I just don't fall off . . .

Swim Team was ... an easy practice, 5,000 yards ... girls using the boys showers ... burning eyes and clammy skin ... morning work outs starting at 6:30 a.m. ... spending lunch periods in the pool office going over the line ups and rosters ... boys having a winning season ... girls being undefeated ... hard work that paid off with three district winners ... and fourteen state qualifiers.

Can you dig it?

Teamwork!?

Look out for that bird, Murray!

Volleyball was ... a dig, a set, and a spike- sometimes ... Getting to know a lot of new girls ... wondering whether or not your serve would go over the net ... having the J.V. beat the varsity ... worrying if Jendi is awake, or if she always looks that way ... buying your own knee pads ... getting confidence back from a special person ... wearing new long-sleeved uniforms with the arms rolled-up ... riding on the bus with the heater on ... off ... on ... off ... trying to figure out the multicolored boundry lines ... setting the ball to Marie Morgan and watching her fantastic spike ... into Kim Kelly's face ... shaking hands with the opponents with another victory under your belt.

Baseball was ... defeating Bellfonte 8 to 1 in the Central Penn Baseball League Championship game ... first time to win the championship since joining the league ... two extra innings played against the Raiders—which established superiority ... the season ending with an eight game winning streak ... Jeff Norris with three hits, including a two-run double, and three runs batted in ... Norris' super year ... 30 hits, 30 for 60 for a .500 average ... Rich Schickling finished 11-4 in the league and 14-6 over-all ... McNamee pitching well all season by keeping the ball down around the knees ... Donn Robb coming out of nowhere to go 4-0 ... the key games were Bellefonte and Bald Eagle Area ... Shirey provided alot of leadership as the team captain ... J.V. team 24-8 under Jim Martin ... Norris in high gear to score a run ... how many stitches are there on a baseball? ... and what does the number of stitches on a football have to do with baseball? ... I guess we'll never know.

Leans To Victory

How do you play this game again?

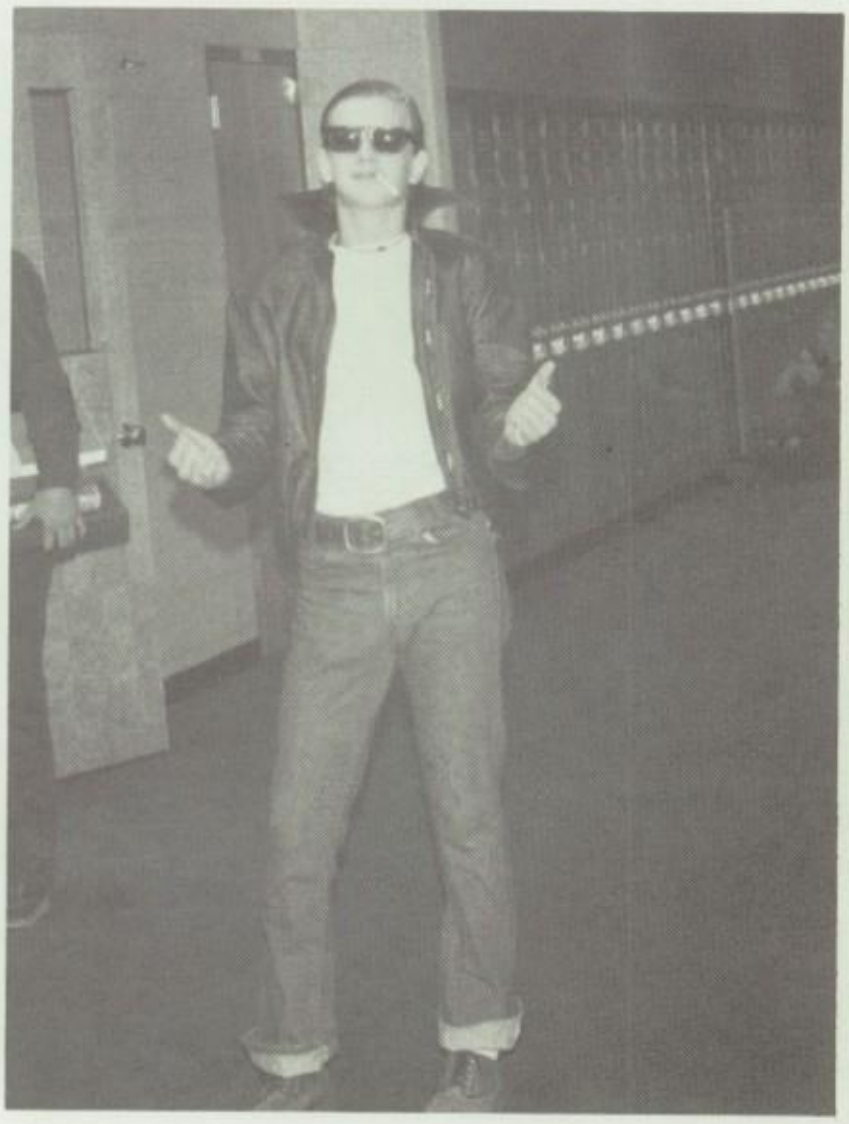
50's Day



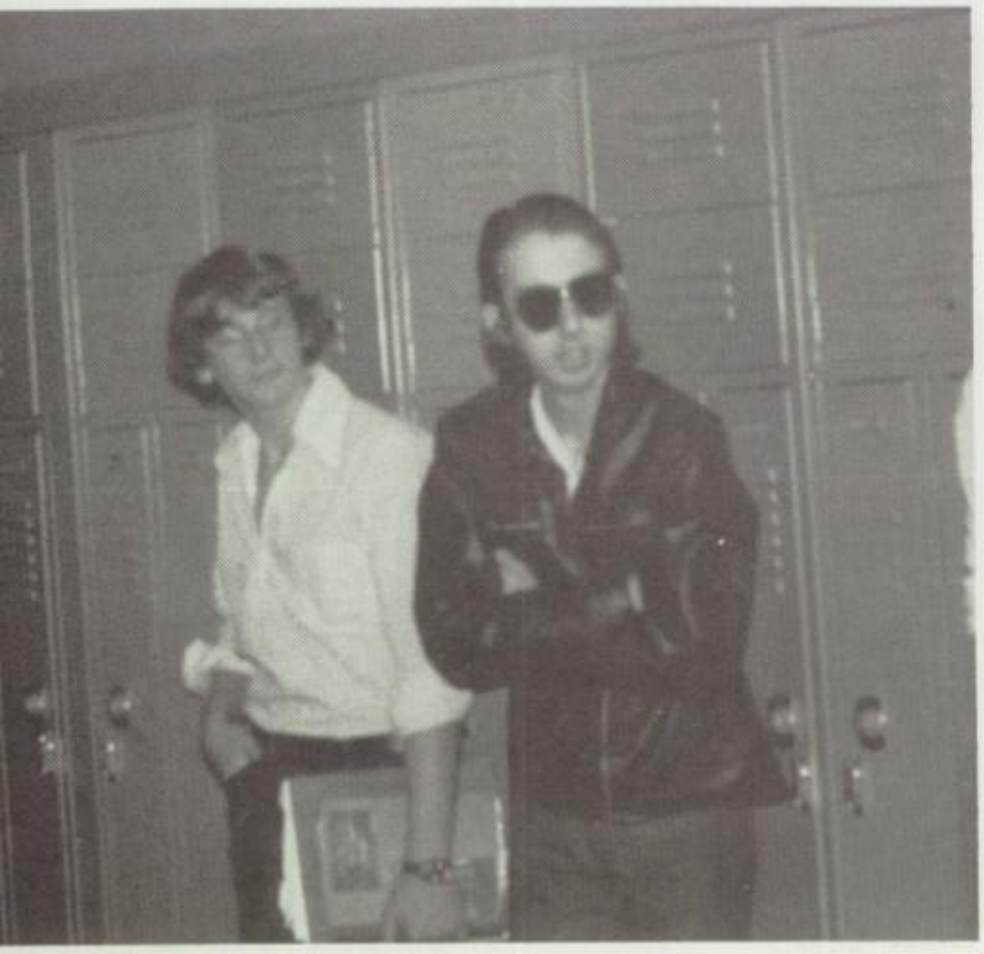
Hey Fonz! Eat your heart out.

I'm a good lookin' chick.

Good lookin' chicks always fog my specs.

50's Day

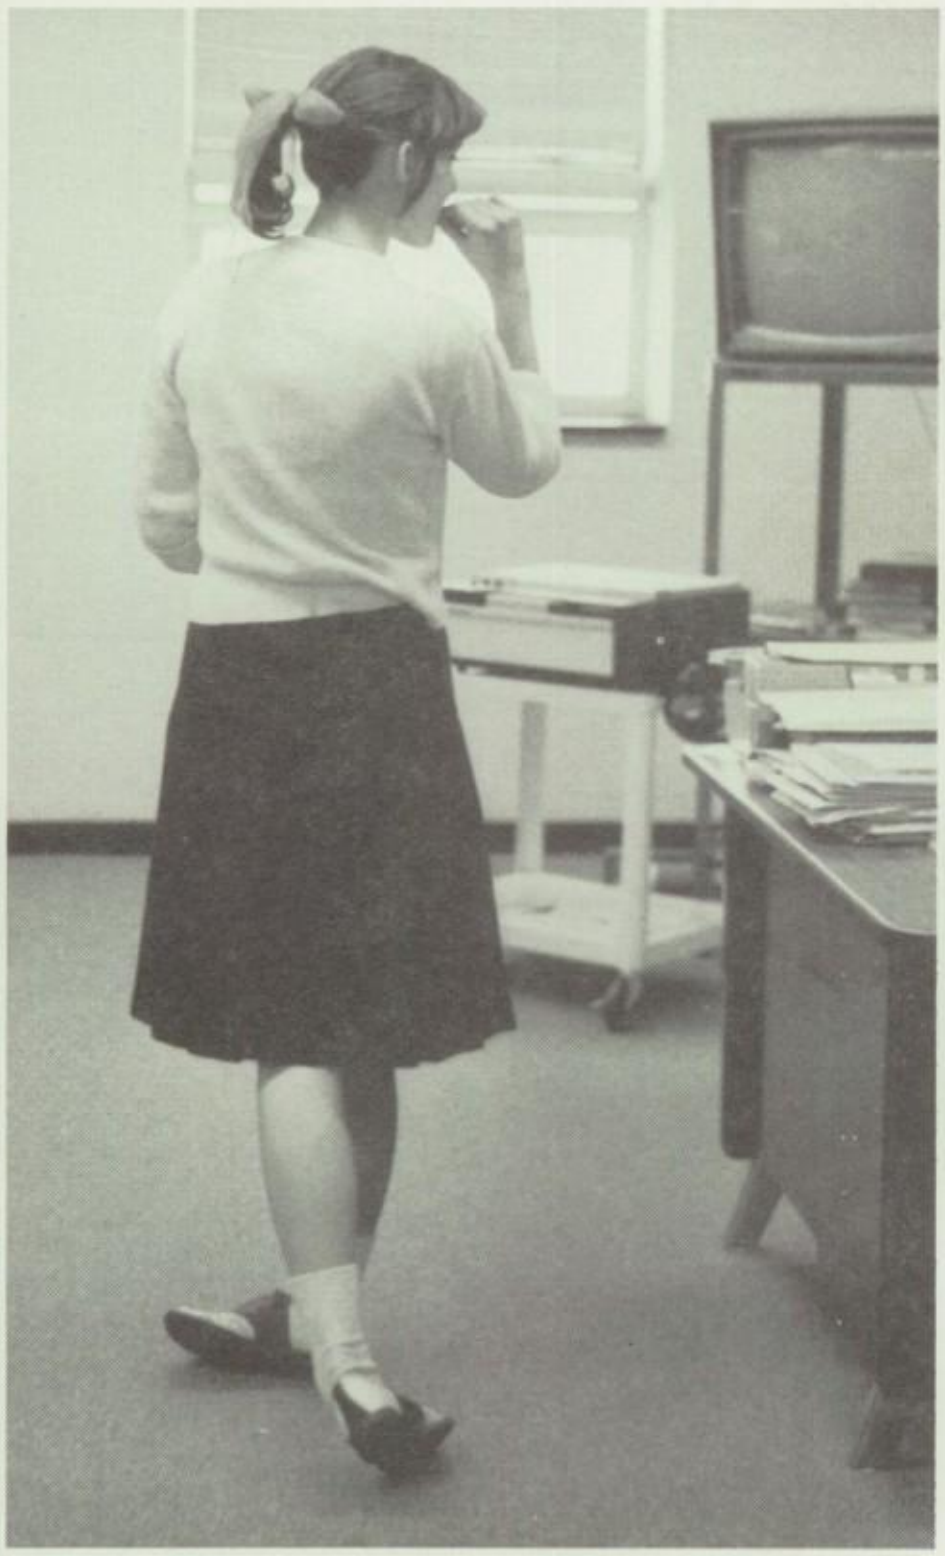
Planning the sockhop.



Pretty nice one, huh!

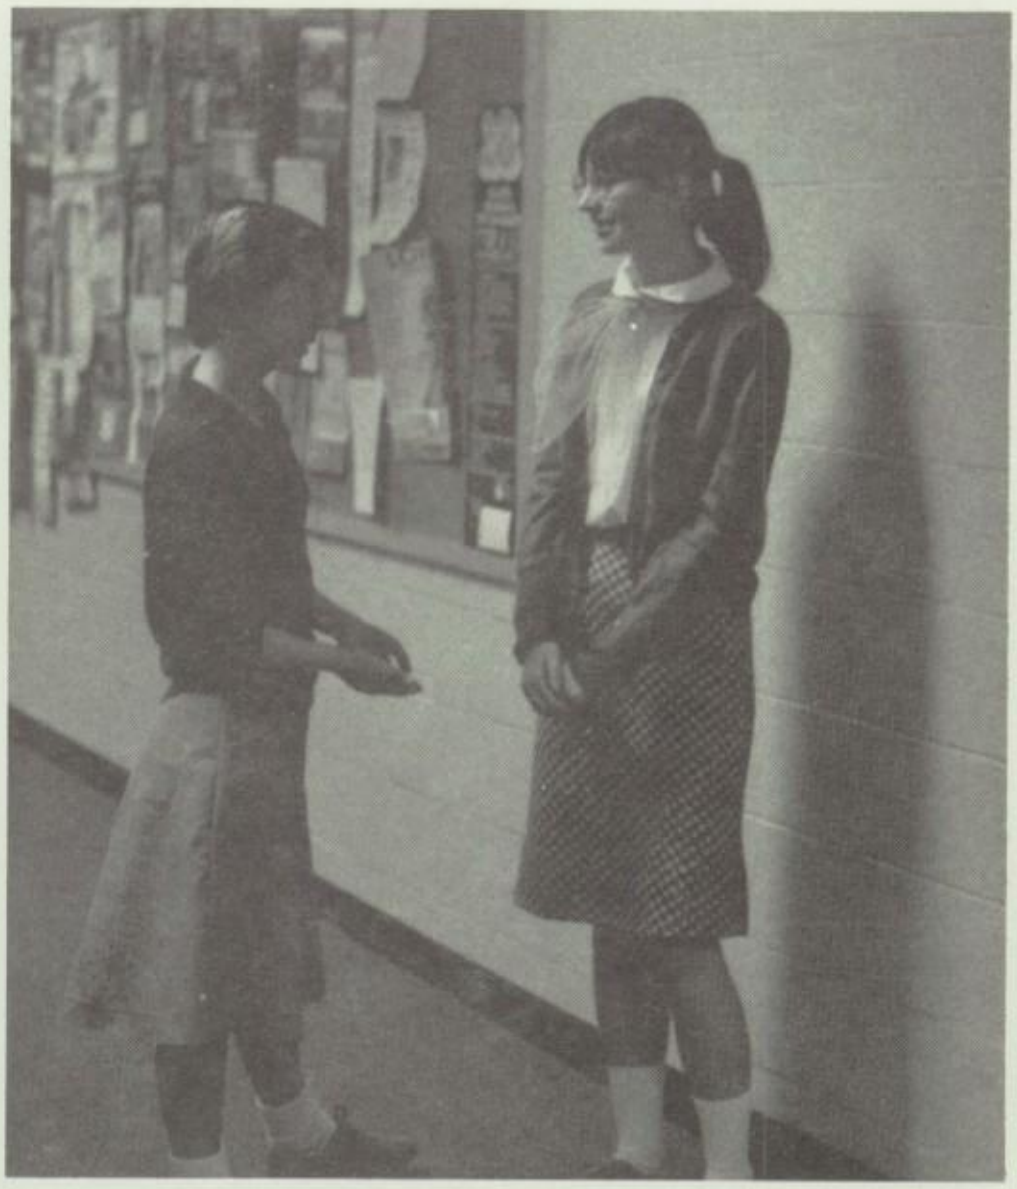
Wanna join us for some cherry cokes?

Let's go stomp on his blue suede shoes.



I never got the hang of wearing saddle shoes!

It's puppy love!



The best part of it all was when we both sipped out of the same straw!

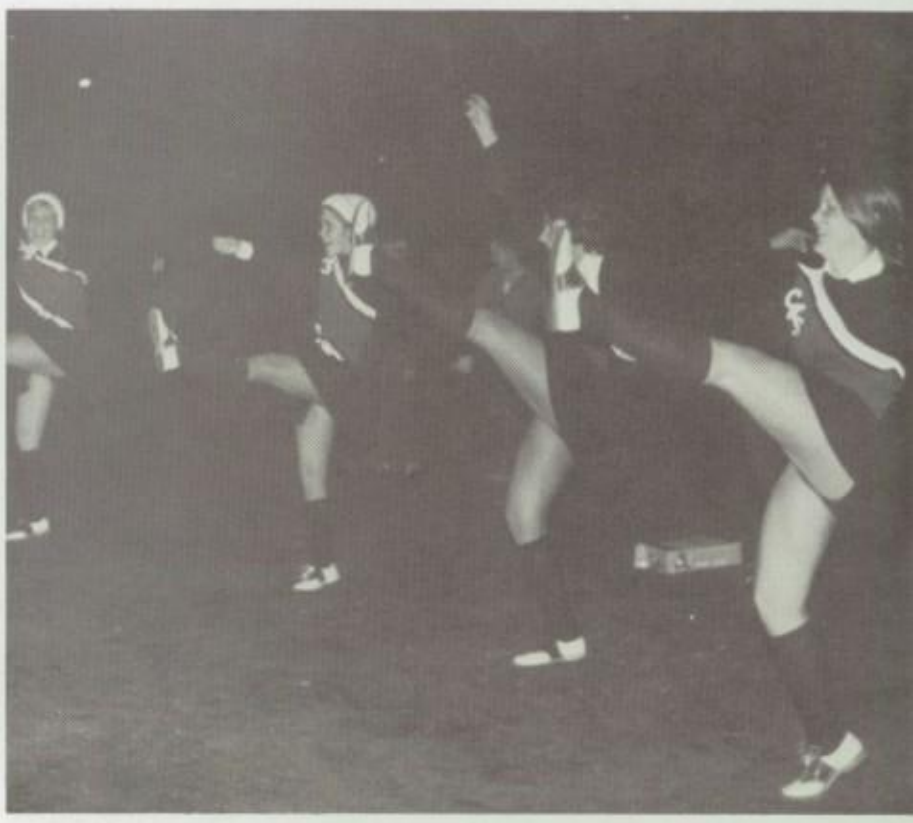
I wish I was in Mary Ann's shoes.

Bonfire

Ah, Joe! Tired lips?

Didn't take 'em long to warm up.

The heat got to him.



Beat Tide ... Beat Tide!

Painter Pants Day

Allen, you're supposed to protect us.

Students huddled together in fear of the undiscovered bomb

Bomb Scare Day

A bomb? Where?

The Clarion Lab Band's

Performance At CHS

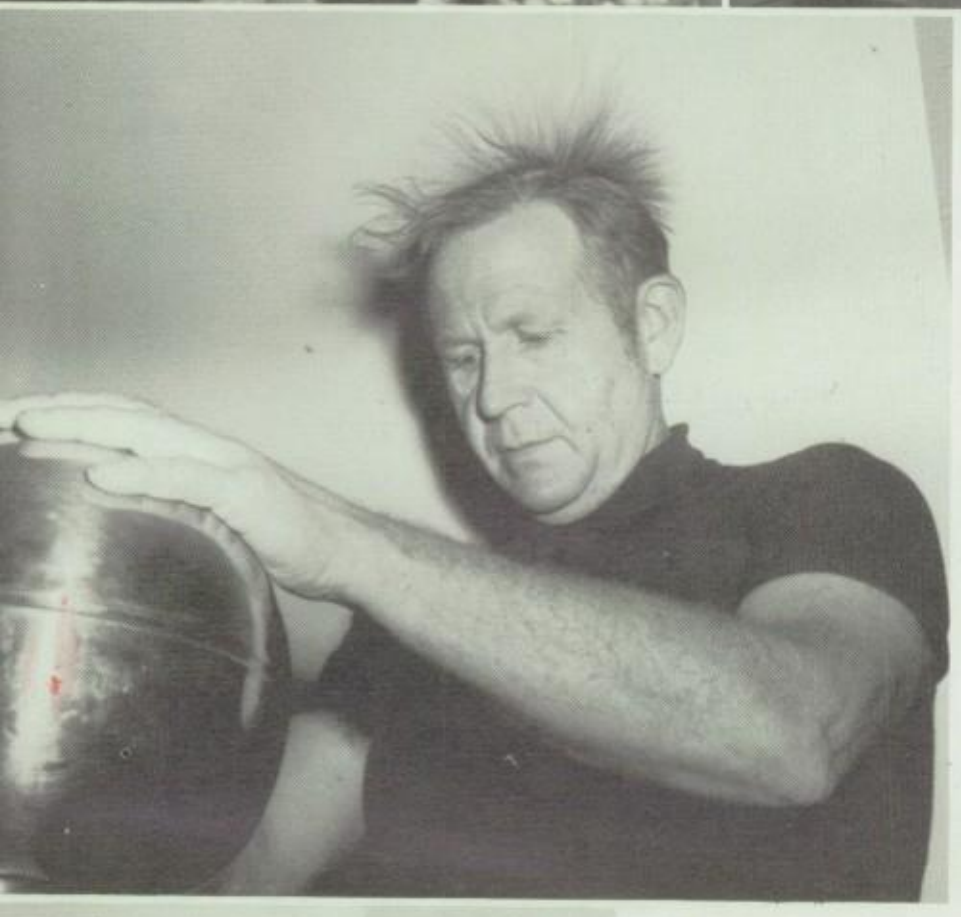
he Clarion Lab Band was F-a-n-t-a-s-t-i-c! ... our est assembly ... direc- d by Rex Mitchell ... with any of the performers onducting their own ompositions ... some ery good looking usicians ... Remember e drummer? ... and how bout the tall trumpet ayer ... accompanied by electric synthesizer ... e rhythm bass section most entirely female ... a eat sound ... finished eir performance with a al rouser right in the udience.

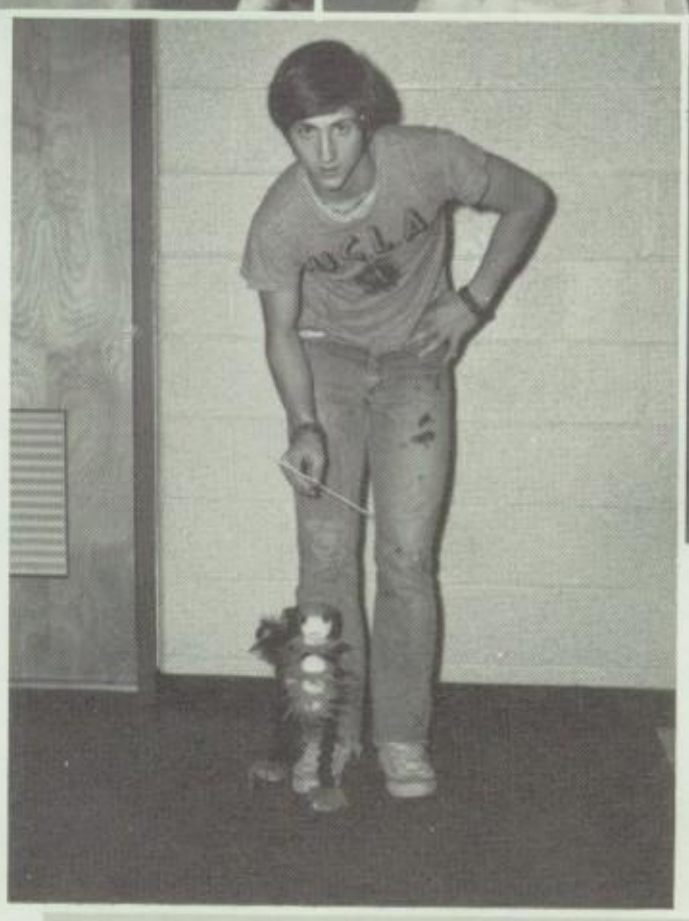
Love those drums!

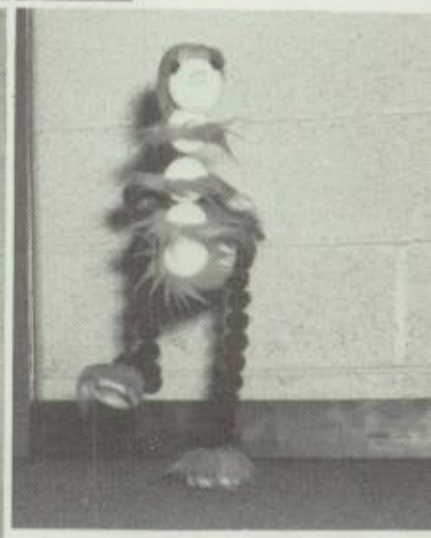
A dedicated high man ... when playing his trumpet.

What Were You Doing The Last Week Of School?

Cleaning the Chem Lab . . .

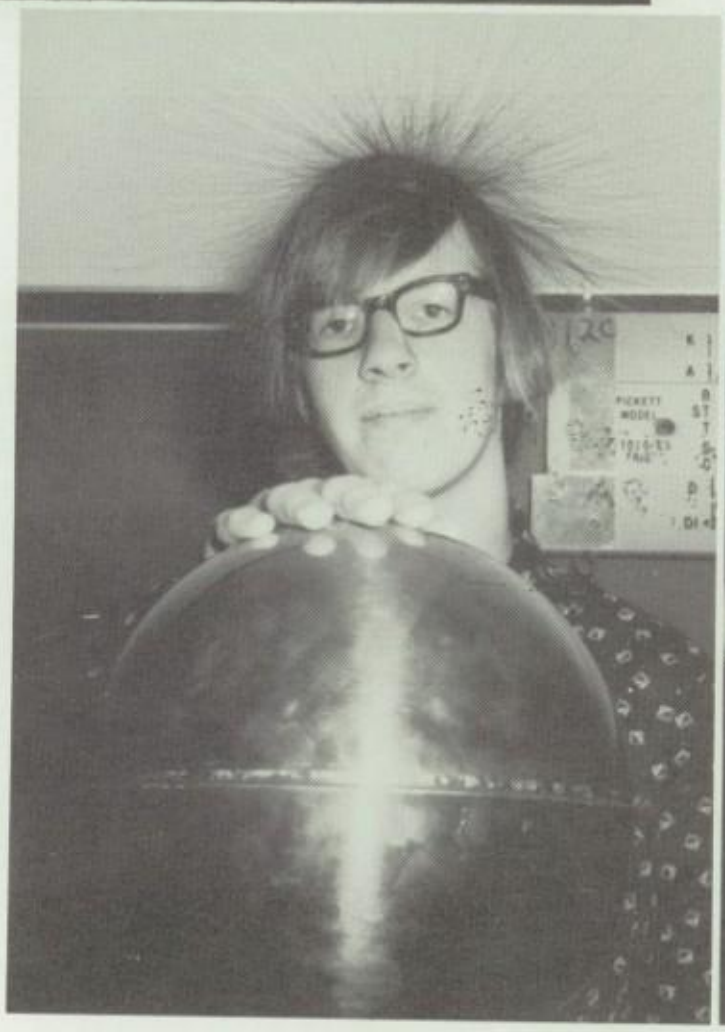






Bringing your favorite pet to school . . .

or . . . listening to Mr. Mitchell's hair-raising tales?



Pep Assemblies

"Just wait till I finish shaving!"

Some spirits never die.

"We . . . are the cheerleaders . . . and we're here . . . to show you . . . our team!"

Pep Assemblies '75-'76 were . . . not what they were supposed to be . . . Dave Davis getting hit in the face with a pie . . . the Seniors (of course!) ,cheering the loudest . . . lots of noise . . . lousy acoustics . . . a questionable amount of enthusiasm from the team . . . dreams of a winning season . . . trying to revive the old Bison Spirit.
